Water, Water Everywhere 😊

Summer is officially here and the heat is on and so is the water. On almost every street, water can be seen running into the gutters. This is a tell-tale sign of too much irrigation. While our plants do need more water in the summer, the water that runs into the gutters is giving no benefit to the plants—it is just running off already saturated soil. A great and easy way to make sure your plants are getting the water they need and to reduce wastefulness is to use the multiple start time feature on your controller. This feature allows you to break up the total watering time into smaller intervals by running your stations several times in one day. For example, if you need to water for 15 minutes, you can break up the time into five minute intervals, three times per day. No run-off and no wasted water for which you have to pay! Feel free to contact Alexis Shields for additional information and resources.
